The amendment offered by Mr. Daniel of Virginia, intended to prohibit officers in the civil or military branches of the government from serving on commissions or performing duties other than called for by law, provoked a lengthy discussion, and in response to appeals of Mr. Allison and Mr. Hoar, the bill was withdrawn.

At 2 o'clock the Statehood bill came up, and there was a brief exchange between Mr. Quay, who favors the bill, and Mr. Daniel, who opposes it. Mr. Quay said that he had no objection to Mr. Daniel's amendment, but that he was not prepared to accept it. Mr. Daniel said that he was not prepared to accept it. (CONTINUED FROM FIRST PAGE) on the subject will be made to Germany. This is also taken to indicate the attitude of the United States, and the possibility of international complications beyond those involved in Venezuela alone.

The Osmun was owned by a Frenchman, who used her in the coasting trade of South America about eight months ago. The Osmun was seized by the forces of President Castro on the ground that the ship was a military necessity, and the Venezuelan flag was hoisted on her. The ship was then taken to the United States, and the French nationality of the Osmun is considered here to be unquestionable.

The advice from Caracas indicates that some tension is arising between the British and German naval commanders over the methods of enforcing the blockade. The German naval commander insists on decisive action, and the British commander desires to proceed slower and more in accordance with the course of diplomacy. As a result of this friction, some of the leading diplomatic representatives at Caracas have reported that it is not likely that the British will participate in the seizure of the Osmun.

FRANCE'S DIPLOMATIC COURAGE. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) PARIS, Dec. 11.—Leading French officials openly express gratification at the fact that France has secured through diplomatic what other powers were seeking to obtain through force. It is learned from an authoritative source that the French claims, which will be submitted to the coming arbitration, amount to $10,000,000. This includes $5,000,000 for the seizure of the Osmun, and $5,000,000 for the seizure of the Osmun.

The claims which it had not been decided to submit to arbitration are $5,000,000, but it is believed that these will also be submitted to arbitration. The arbitration is expected to be held in London, and it is understood that the arbitration will result in a decision in favor of the United States.

SIDELIGHTS ON CASTRO. CREATURE OF THE TURBULENCE. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) LONDON, Dec. 11.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) An English publicist of high standing has, and possessed of an intimate knowledge of the American situation, furnished the following reflections on today's news, which accurately represent the ideas of ruling Englishmen and the feelings of the English people.

"Castro's proceedings are to be undertaken by those only who are acquainted with Spanish-Indian politics. The South American republics are vain, unreasoning and theatrical. They neither know nor care for the observance of other nations. The first principle in their creed is that their particular country is the chosen home of liberty, equality and fraternity. Canning is their chief characteristic. That quality is conspicuous in their efforts to stir up the Monroe sentiment in the United States. So far they have lamentably failed, but if Castro is allowed by his countrymen to persevere, and British and German interference goes to the length of armed operations, justifiable under international law. Prolonged occupation would be obnoxious to the United States, and inimical to Anglo-American friendship."

"England benefits nothing by having Germany at her side. Without England's presence, it is safe to say Germany dare not attempt a blockade. England is in a false position strategically, however much she may be justified by international law."

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. LONDON, Dec. 12.—Up to a late hour last night, the Foreign Office was still without news from the situation in Venezuela. While there is no confirmation of the rumors of fighting in La Guayra, the newspapers this morning are beginning to show a keener appreciation of the serious possibilities involved by President Castro's continued defiance. This feeling will hardly be lessened by the report that a British vessel had been seized at Puerto Cabello, and it is shown in the eager demands upon the government to present in Parliament documents explaining the ground for its action, so that the country shall be no longer in doubt as to the provocations the government has received.

Questions as to how it will be possible to enforce the payment of Great Britain's demands upon Venezuela without costly military operations and whether the occupation of the capital of that country would achieve the desired result are being asked. It is recognized that President Castro has nothing to lose and that the Venezuelans are incensed at the sinking of their ships and may set aside their internal dissensions and make stout resistance, hoping for some assistance from the United States and France.

Much gratitude is expressed at Minister Bowen's prompt intervention in behalf of the British and German residents, and alarm is expressed at the possible fate of British subjects, not only in the coast towns, but in the interior of Venezuela. Through all the editorial articles published this morning there runs a strong feeling of uneasiness, more or less openly expressed, that the press reports that the British and German prisoners have been released.

This was the only advice that came to the State Department over night as to the situation in Venezuela, but it was welcomed, and to the British and German prisoners have been released.

leaded is correct, but the officials here are entirely ignorant of what has transpired since Tuesday, being, as in the China campaign, two days behind the newspapers. If President Castro has replied to the German and British ultimatum, it will appear in the course of transmission to Germany.

Boilermakers Threaten Strikes—Speeches Strike Off—Trouble at Kewick.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. SCRANTON (Pa.) Dec. 11.—The representatives of the miners during the day's proceedings before the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, called one of the independent operators to the witness stand to tell the exact price he received for his coal, and the mine owner refused, giving instead, after much quibbling, an average of the price he received.

The operator was L. N. Crawford, president of the People's Coal Company, which operates the Oxford colliery in Scranton. The request for him to take the stand was a surprise, and he refused to do so.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Los Angeles Revivalists.

Evangelist Hugh E. Smith of this city has just inaugurated a vast series of revivals in the nine Methodist churches of Cleveland, O. Services will be held for two weeks in each of the nine churches.

Rabbi Will Lecture.

Rabbi Abraham Myers of San Francisco has been invited to lecture Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and Sunday at 11 o'clock at the Beth Israel Temple, Olive and Temple streets. Rabbi Myers comes recommended as an able lecturer.

Something Different.

Camera Club members are looking forward to something a little unusual in the way of entertainment this evening when a program prepared by Mr. Killian and his aids will be given. The time will be divided between instruction and amusement, and will include musical slides and music.

Organ Recital.

A complimentary organ recital under the direction of the Ladies' Aid Society will be given at 8 o'clock this evening at Western Methodist Church, Eighth street and Burlington avenue. The event marking the completion of the new pipe organ. Organist Simmonds, assisted by the choir, will furnish the principal entertainment.

Mrs. G. T. Greenleaf, under the auspices of the Daughters of the Revolution, presented a series of lectures on "California History" yesterday afternoon at Cumnock Hall. The substance of the talks concerned the early settlement of Mexico, the methods of conquest and government which were the vogue of the Spanish conquerors, and the first work of the Franciscan missionaries in what is now New Mexico and Southern California. The third lecture will be given next Thursday.

PRICE 3 CENTS

SCANDAL OUT AT CITY HALL.

Sprinkling Demand Passed and Nobody Knows How.

Nearly Five Thousand Dollars Queerly Juggled.

Signatures These Which Owners Never Affixed, and Things Wrong Generally.

Street sprinkling bids fair to cause a startling scandal at the City Hall. Discoveries were made yesterday which indicate that very peculiar tactics have been employed in the interest of contractor A. P. Cross. A demand for $4000 was smuggled through the Council without the knowledge of the members of the Finance Committee. The demand, which appears to have been approved. One of the members of the Finance Committee declares that he has no recollection of signing the demand, although it bears his signature on its face. The name of President Powers of the Council was affixed to the paper without his knowledge or consent, and there are other indications that the transaction was not straight.

In September Street Superintendent McGuire complained to the Council that the street sprinkling contractor was continuously and flagrantly violating his contract, and that he was powerless to force him to do the work properly. September 29 he sent a report to the Council recommending that action be taken under a provision in the contract which allows the Council to make such deductions in the amount paid the contractor as are deemed justifiable through his failure to perform the work to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent, and the Council also issued orders to the Inspector of street sprinkling not to sign the demand.

ALL IN ONE DAY.

The formal communication was read in the Council chamber, despite strong efforts to delay it, and was very loudly referred to the Committee on the Whole, where a majority of the Councilmen profess to believe that both the report and the demand were concocted today. From time to time various Councilmen have stated that in the near future they would be considered and a suitable deduction from the contract payment made.

Despite these protestations, evidently made in good faith, the Council, on the very day that the reference to the committee was made, approved the demand of $4000. This demand, contrary to the usual practice, was presented, referred to the Committee on the Whole, and then approved by the Council. The demand was signed by Councilmen Allen and Pierce, and by Mayor Snyder, all on the same day, September 29.

It takes other demands a week or more to run the gauntlet of municipal law.

DEMAND GOES TO BANK.

This demand was entered on the Auditor's ledger September 29, and was signed for by Capt. John Cross, representative of the contractor, and by him turned over to the Los Angeles Council Bank for collection. There was no money in the street-sprinkling fund in September, and it was not until November 25 that money was found to pay the demand. It was then presented by the bank and was signed by H. J. Trowbridge and the stamp of City Treasurer Workman.

On September 29, according to form, is drawn on the street-sprinkling fund and bears the signature of the Auditor.

A. P. Cross presents this demand on the treasury of Los Angeles for the sum of $4000 for sprinkling. There was no money in the fund in the month of September, 1902, as per orders of the Auditor of the City of Los Angeles.

"O. K." G. W. Hooser.

Owing to the fact that there was a shortage in the fund the demand remained in the Council chamber until the last week in November, and because of some delays in the municipal department the demand was not until the paper was not readily accessible until yesterday.

REGULAR PAYAGE.

There is a peculiar chain of circumstances connected with the passage of this demand in such a way that it is not infrequently happened that the minute clerk of the Council had to read several hundred demands almost every Monday. The City Auditor necessarily handled very rapidly. Usually demands under contracts are not given the close attention that is paid to miscellaneous demands as they are for a fixed sum every month, and it is not infrequently happened that the title and amount of the demand are not read. Consequently several members of the Council and possibly all might not be aware that they were voting on such a demand.

As a guarantee that these demands are regular in every particular, each one must bear the stamped signature of at least two members of the Finance Committee. This demand, which bears the Auditor's number 12,295, has the stamped signatures of Councilmen Allen and Pierce on the face. Pierce says he did not intend to affix his signature to the demand, and whether he did through mistake, or someone else applied the stamp is a matter he doubts. Often when a member of the Finance Committee is called from the work of stamping demands by a constituent, the rubber-stamp is left lying on the table. It would be comparatively easy for an interested party to secure temporary possession and affix the signature to a demand. It is usual for the Finance Committee to stamp demands in the committee room and to use two ink pads, one of which is filled with red, and the other with blue ink. In this instance it appears that but one pad was used as both signatures are in the same shade of blue.

It is comparatively easy to explain the signatures of the President and Clerk of the Council, as the names are stamped on the demands by deputies, who merely attest to the fact that they were passed upon by the Council. As the demand was in every way correct when it reached the Council, and was presented before the published account of the Council's intended action, there was no reason for him to withhold his approval.

INSPECTOR "IN FOR IT."

Sprinkling Inspector G. W. Hooser made the demand for the demand through by approving it after Street

CEASED TOIL BUT TO DIE.

Dr. Cantline Resists in Arms of Death at Chicago.

Pneumonia Claims Him During a Family Reunion.

Made Great Record as Methodist Church Builder—In-teresting Life Story.

Rev. R. S. Cantline, former pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city, died at the home of his only daughter, Mrs. M. R. Vanderkloot of No. 512 West Fifty-first street, Chicago, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death came peacefully after five days' illness with pneumonia. He was 62 years old.

This intelligence will be a sad shock to the circles which knew him here, for though Dr. Cantline had been in ill health for a year, not even his most intimate associates expected his early demise. His death will be mourned as a personal bereavement by thousands of his hearers, and as a great loss to the Methodist church in Southern California for a decade.

News of the death came last evening in the shape of a telegram from the doctor's son-in-law, M. R. Vanderkloot, to George J. Major, the latter having been with the preacher here and been one of his closest friends. The dispatch was dated from the suburb of Englewood, and said simply: "Dr. Cantline passed away very peacefully at 5 o'clock this afternoon. On Wednesday Mr. Major had registered word by wire saying that the sufferer was in a very critical condition, but in spite of this startling message the friends of the doctor, who were here, believed that a few days would bring better news."

ANOTHER STORY.

But back of this signature is said to lie an interesting story—the sad and true story of a life of devotedness to his church and his people. George W. Hooser hoped to be a member of the next Council from the Sixth Ward. It is said. When the demand was held up by the action of the Street Superintendent, great trouble was caused. Hooser, who was a member of the Council, and a friend of the contractor, was represented to be in line with the contractor, and his political future depended on his approval of the demand. Councilman Blanchard was particularly active in an endeavor to adjust the matter, and by certain politicians Blanchard was known as a "fixer."

An indication of this activity is found in the fact that while Blanchard was in the city, he was very active in his efforts to hush the agitation, and name does not appear on the demand as one of those who approved it. Out of deference to the wishes of the contractor, and other politicians, and believing that his political future depended on securing the signature of Hooser, he believed to have affixed his signature. But it may be noted that Hooser is much farther from being Councilman of the Sixth Ward than he was last September.

THEY DON'T KNOW HOW.

"Indeed, I am not aware that I ever approved that demand," said Councilman Pierce. "If I did, it was under a great deal of misapprehension or through an oversight. In handling so many demands in a hurry it is possible to make such a mistake, but I do not understand my name comes to be on that demand."

President Powers stated that he had never heard of the demand, and presumed that it was still with the committee of the whole, to which the matter had been referred. Councilman Bowen was astounded when told of the scheme that had been worked out by the contractor. Councilman Allen, chairman of the Finance Committee, stated that the demands had been approved by Inspector Hooser. He was the only Councilmember who was acquainted with the fact. Mr. Allen stated that the demand had been approved by the Council, and that if poor and inefficient service was disclosed by an investigation, he would not be cut just as well. However, the October demand has also been paid in full.

CAREFULLY PLANNED.

The entire affair was carefully planned at the state of mind, and it is believed that the contractor, McGuire, was induced at the last moment to change his report to the Council in one important particular.

No Cause for Mortification.

"It was very kind of you," she said, "to send me your book of poems. The beautiful looking young bard pushed the book to me, and I was very much interested. I am gratified to hear you say so. When I read the poems you like the best."

"Well, I think I rather like that one about the moon and evening star, and one clear."

"Oh, I'm afraid," he interrupted, "that you've got me confused with Tompkins. However, it isn't surprising. Many say his work resembles mine." (Chicago Record-Herald.)

CEASED TOIL BUT TO DIE.

Dr. Cantline Resists in Arms of Death at Chicago.

Pneumonia Claims Him During a Family Reunion.

Made Great Record as Methodist Church Builder—In-teresting Life Story.

Rev. R. S. Cantline, former pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city, died at the home of his only daughter, Mrs. M. R. Vanderkloot of No. 512 West Fifty-first street, Chicago, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death came peacefully after five days' illness with pneumonia. He was 62 years old.

This intelligence will be a sad shock to the circles which knew him here, for though Dr. Cantline had been in ill health for a year, not even his most intimate associates expected his early demise. His death will be mourned as a personal bereavement by thousands of his hearers, and as a great loss to the Methodist church in Southern California for a decade.

News of the death came last evening in the shape of a telegram from the doctor's son-in-law, M. R. Vanderkloot, to George J. Major, the latter having been with the preacher here and been one of his closest friends. The dispatch was dated from the suburb of Englewood, and said simply: "Dr. Cantline passed away very peacefully at 5 o'clock this afternoon. On Wednesday Mr. Major had registered word by wire saying that the sufferer was in a very critical condition, but in spite of this startling message the friends of the doctor, who were here, believed that a few days would bring better news."

ANOTHER STORY.

But back of this signature is said to lie an interesting story—the sad and true story of a life of devotedness to his church and his people. George W. Hooser hoped to be a member of the next Council from the Sixth Ward. It is said. When the demand was held up by the action of the Street Superintendent, great trouble was caused. Hooser, who was a member of the Council, and a friend of the contractor, was represented to be in line with the contractor, and his political future depended on his approval of the demand. Councilman Blanchard was particularly active in an endeavor to adjust the matter, and by certain politicians Blanchard was known as a "fixer."

An indication of this activity is found in the fact that while Blanchard was in the city, he was very active in his efforts to hush the agitation, and name does not appear on the demand as one of those who approved it. Out of deference to the wishes of the contractor, and other politicians, and believing that his political future depended on securing the signature of Hooser, he believed to have affixed his signature. But it may be noted that Hooser is much farther from being Councilman of the Sixth Ward than he was last September.

THEY DON'T KNOW HOW.

"Indeed, I am not aware that I ever approved that demand," said Councilman Pierce. "If I did, it was under a great deal of misapprehension or through an oversight. THANKS DUE THE "BOOZE."

Saved Lives on the Wrecked Santa Fe Limited.

Train Arrives in Los Angeles One Day Overdue.

Koopfli Family on the Derailed Flyer—Interesting Story of the Disaster.

"Lord," ejaculated J. O. Koopfli with a long-drawn sigh. "O' Koopfli are thankful to get back to Los Angeles alive."

Mr. and Mrs. Koopfli and little daughter had just stepped from the wrecked "California Limited," which arrived at La Grange station a day overdue at 8:30 yesterday morning. The trio had received the cordial or loving greetings of half a dozen anxious relatives and friends. Koopfli is a member of the firm of Bishop & Co., and with his family has been on a twenty months' tour of the Old World.

Koopfli tells an interesting story of the derailing and demolition of the "Limited" at Rothville, Mo., about noon last Monday. Twenty of the survivors arrived on yesterday's St. Louis train, which was made up at Kansas City. Of the forty passengers aboard at the time of the wreck, quite a number deferred the continuance of their journey to rest up their nerves, and others were distributed along the route. Most of them are tourists or settlers from the Middle West, and none were severely injured. Congressman-elect Loud of Michigan, who was in the wreck, left the train at Pomona, where he will visit his father and brother. The Koopfli occupied a drawing-room and were the only residents of this city aboard the wrecked train.

"I tell you, we are glad to get home," said Koopfli, a man that meant it. "We have spent twenty months abroad on pleasure bent, but for my part I can say that this moment of landing here is the most delicious in all that time. It seemed as if events conspired to threaten our arriving in Los Angeles. Coming across the Atlantic we experienced a terrific series of storms. Then our course was barred by the Pennsylvania. It was erratic and troublesome. Coming west from Chicago I could not help but fear that something would happen to the train and prevent our getting home. In Illinois a serious wreck of a cattle train delayed us six hours. Besides the disaster to our own train, there was a head-on collision of freight trains in our path at Peach Springs."

"But that is not the sole cause for our thanksgiving. The principal thing is that we are here. For all you there is nothing on earth like the city of Los Angeles. There is no other city of note in Europe, and there is not one that compares to Los Angeles."

Speaking of the experience of his family in the wreck, Koopfli said: "We were in the drawing-room of a drunken coach that was not injured or killed, but had conditions been such, we would have escaped so luckily. The crash came after 12:30, and lunch was late, because the regular kitchen car had failed at Chicago, and they had been compelled to muster in help. Along we read as they detached from the train. The engine was crushed and the train scattered to death."

"The first sign we had of danger was the screaming of the emergency air brakes, and almost instantly we were thrown over to one side by the tipping of the coach. Then came the bumping and jerking, and then an oppressive and indescribable sensation, such as squeezing, though we were not jammed into anything. Some of the cars went down into the deep ditch. The work of rescue was quickly prosecuted, and we were conveyed to Kansas City, where this train was made up."

BAPTIST CONVENTION.

It has been definitely decided to hold the annual meeting of the Baptist Young People of America in this city in 1904. The general secretary, Rev. Walter Calver, will arrive here January 15, and will preach in the First Baptist Church, January 18. He will make a tour of Southern California, accompanied by H. G. James, State president.

THE LATE REV. DR. CANTLINE.

strenuous endeavor which had resulted in notable accomplishment, and in that it is peculiarly pathetic. It was only a few days ago that Cantline was forced by ill health to retire from the ministry permanently, and he had prepared to spend the remainder of his life in rest, recuperation and improvement with his wife and only daughter in the quiet of a well-earned retirement. He had planned as soon as his strength would permit, to prepare two volumes of his life, one on his personal religious topics, for delivery throughout the country for the benefit of the poor.

Dr. Cantline was indeed a self-made man. His early history forms an interesting and romantic story of adventure; his manhood's years make up an enviable record of achievement in the church and religion. He was a church builder—it was his ambition to build a church. He had a deep sense of worship at the corner of Sixth and Hill streets stands as a personal monument to his work in this city. Dr. Cantline served through two pastorates of five years each in this church, the first being at San Francisco and San Jose. When he returned to his post here in 1885, he found 600 members worshipping in the old frame structure between Fourth and Fifth streets on Broadway. Before retiring he had completed the new building and increased the congregation to an active membership of over 1200. It is the finest church edifice and the largest congregation in Southern California.

A VIGIL.

All night her flickering watch light, low and dim, stood in the window casement there for him. All night, all night, in grief and unknown pain. She listened to the beating of the rain; and when the midnight darkness closed through all the weary hours she never slept.

But as the dawn rose, white and slumbrous: God sent His balm—her brow was alighted. Who was it thus that waited on the night. Care-worn and wan, close to her candle-light? Forgetful of the boon she might enjoy—It was a mother watching for her boy.

HOBO'S WILD RIDE TO FIERY SMASH-UP.

TEN cars, loaded with oil, which were left standing on the Southern Pacific tracks at Pomona yesterday morning, broke away and started down the grade toward Pueno with a momentum that soon reached sixty miles an hour. Half a mile east of Pueno, and about seven miles from the starting point, an east-bound freight train was met.

As a Feather Shows the Wind's Direction So Lies of Rogers and Hay are Flimsily Built.

These two detractors who have stopped at nothing to injure us have crowded their malicious lies into the Union Labor News without regard to even the respectable rudiments of a lie. You have read the "Willie" Leakey matter and how the boy refuted their statements and declared his name as "Martin" Leakey. You have read much in their charges of "Abe" Hamburger. There is not nor ever was an "Abe" Hamburger in the family. These are small matters, but like the straw show that these two scoundrels have no care for truth in what they say about us—and a sensible public will give no further credence to any of their statements concerning this firm.
